The Reception Last Evening.

Speech of Gov. Seward

According to the most careful estimates Bell will probably carry the State, but it will be very light between him and Breckinridge, and will speak it Washington to morrow. He proceeds immediately to Virgious, and will stump that State from end to end. He has extraordurary power over an audience, carrying them irresistibly with him. In the process tiste of feeling in Virginia he will sweep all before him. This shows the folly of the ponous in the Proc State; throwing away votes on Bell. As Mr. Yanney truly said, "the oaly counted is between Lincoln and Breckinridge, and people should choose accordingly

The Republican street passed a numbered 5,347, on an awful hot day. The Bonglas procession only numbered 2,900, and that in cool, favorable weather.

The Republican meeting spa a mere ratification. No great speakers were promised or expected. The season was a busy one for farmers and the weather intensely bot. Suppose the order of the meetings had been reversed; that the Donglas demonstration had been held in August, simply as a ratification; and that a month later the Republicans should have held theirs, and Lincoln and Hamlis were both to be present. Under such circumstances the Republican meeting would have been five times the largest. But after all the proper test of party strength is found only at the polls. THE PATRIMONY OF ST. PETER. We take from Lo Press this brief notice of that portion of the Papal dominions to which the French garrison of Rome extends its prosight of tyranny. The first measure of langu-was a ramony in order to usite the great italian samily the day Providence has created harmony through the sublime unanimity of all our pro-vinces for the reconstitution of the astion, and Veceltia, Comarca and Viterbo. These are the provinces traditionally regarded as the patrimony of St. Peter; they comist chieff of the sillodal estates once belonging to the Countes Mathilde of Tuccany, who made a donation of them to the Holy Sice in 1077. In the Comarca of Rome the most remarkable towars are Twoth, Albano, Castel Gandolfo, Pracenti, Subiaco, Palestrina; in the so-called delegation of Viterbo, besides the city of the same name, there are the towars of Montafastone, Roneighlone, Civita Castellia, and Nessi; in that of Civita Vecchia, besides the city of the same same, there are the towars of Montafastone, Roneighlone, Civita Castellia, and Nessi; in that of Civita Vecchia, besides the city of the same same, there are the towars of Tolta, Cornuto, and Allumjer. The territory of these previouse immediately incloses the Eternal City, and is bounded by the Mediterransan on the west, by the lake of Bolsena on the side of Tuccany, by Sabine mountains on the east, and the legation country Victor Emuscel, whom we from this mointain may call alse true father of the Italian land. Victor Emanuel, the model of all sovereigns, will impress upon his descendants the duty that they owe to the prosperity of a people which has elected him for their Chief with entinuisatic devotion. The Italian priests who are conscious of their troe mission here, as a

She appears to have given up the idea of embarking in the Pauslippe atsam packet, which leares this evaning for Civita Vecchia and Naples, and grobably will wait for some Garshaldian ressel, which frequantly arrive here. The departure of the wite of the Dictator leads to the supposition that a reconciliation has been brought about between them. It may be ramembered that Garshaldi, after having received an among mousletter which led to a stormy explanation, saysarsised from his wife, one of the daughters of the reh Harquis Raymondi, as the vary evening of their marriage.

An Incident in the Litte of Gen. Hyp.
Our readers have seen in the published so counts of Mr. Seward's down in the West, that the distinguished statesman is ascompanied by General Nya, a gentisman widely known for his amiability of character and shirty as a man. There is a little episode in the General's life which is interesting, for he is incabated for his present position to the act of pusting his hand around a lady's waist. When a boy the General drove a stage, and the wife of a weathy man traveling in the northerly part of New Tork State, concluded to take an outside seat, and the found in young Nya a led of superior natural abilities. While conversing with him, the horses, in descending a hill, took frigits and become unmanageable, and the lady, terrified at the sight, was about leaping to the ground, which would no doubt have caused her death, when the young driver put his arm round her waist and held her in the seat, and subsequently brought the horses under control.
